

OUR SERVICES

At Noble Shore, we specialise in providing Probity, Workplace Investigations, Dispute Resolution and Training services. We focus on delivering high quality services and value for our customers.

As a business we are strongly committed to building lasting relationships with our clients based on trust, collaboration and integrity.

Our Services

Probity Services

Noble Shore offers a range of probity services to support procurement practices and decision-making processes in important business transactions.

As experienced probity advisors, we will work with you to assess, manage, and resolve day-to-day probity risks to reduce the risk profile of your procurement and/or significant decision.

Our goal is to help implement ethical practice that will lay the foundation for a healthy, productive business relationships and promote an ethical work culture.

Workplace Investigation

Workplace Investigations can be complex and time-consuming, so a dedicated effort is required to do the job properly.

Noble Shore is an experienced provider of independent workplace investigations and operates in a discrete and timely manner. We conduct formal, impartial investigations into sensitive matters and confidential complaints, including having regard to whistleblower requirements, such as the Public Interest Disclosures legislation, for both the public and private sectors.

Training

Our experienced trainers deliver training programs to your workforce that will help to build working relationships and create a strong ethical culture. We pride ourselves on tailoring our training programs that are unique by offering:

- A unique set of training packages
- Customised training packages
- Online gamified microlearning Modules.

Dispute Resolution

Our dispute resolution services provide a confidential and impartial way for individuals or groups to discuss and resolve disputes. We specialise in facilitative mediation and facilitated conversations.

Our dispute resolution experts are professionally trained and nationally accredited with the Mediator Standards Board.

Our dispute resolution processes are efficient, cost effective and often end in productive outcomes to improve working relationships and resolve conflicts. We are committed to facilitating professional and productive discussions that find effective resolutions that meet the needs of all parties involved.
